

DataPath

DataPath is a firm that provides software solutions for employee benefit plans. Mainstream has worked with them for the last few years on a variety of projects, some small and some large. The first opportunity came when one of their clients needed a product release date moved up and their internal development staff was already fully engaged. Mainstream supplemented their efforts in a small way, which provided an opportunity to showcase their skill sets and their commitment to DataPath's success. This very modest start led to other opportunities including Mainstream's prototyping, developing and rolling out a mobile app for their clients.

MyRSC Mobile is an app for iPhone and Android devices which allows a member to access benefit details, claims, reimbursements and history. It was introduced in the fall of 2012 and has received a very positive reception. Titanium was used to create the user interfaces and SOAP web services to connect the interface to DataPath's SQL database.

DATA PATH

DataPath is a good example of a client who is able to leverage Mainstream's resources to push the envelope forward for their business while keeping their internal resources on task to support the day to day business operations. By using Mainstream Technologies, DataPath is able to develop new products using a new technology without affecting their support services and without adding additional staffing overhead.

FLEXIBLE ENGAGEMENT

Mainstream's flexible engagement model allowed for movement through a variety of projects, relying on previous experiences to bring additional value to each project.

MOBILE DEVELOPMENT

When DataPath needed a mobile application for their benefits portal, Mainstream provided the technical skills and industry knowledge to steer the project to successful implementation.

CONSULTING

Mainstream's very experienced staff has seen everything. This provides real-world experiences to help determine the best platforms to base tomorrow's development.
